

The adventures of Ento-Man (Episode IV)

Text: Andrew Bennett

Art: Gaétan Moreau

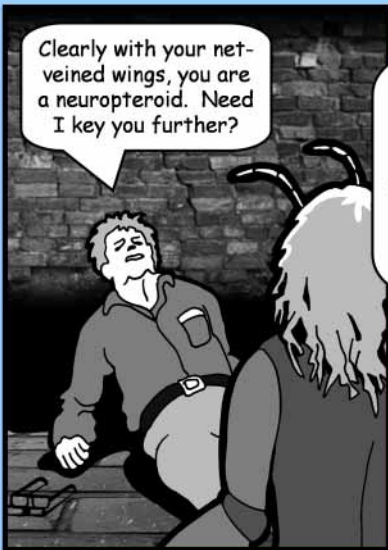

After reverting to his alter ego, Michael Newman (a.k.a. Ento-Man) is walking wearily back to the Museum of Comparative Entomology when a sound from the rooftops captures his attention.

Now we'll play a little game... Tell me what manner of beast I am or DIE!

Clearly with your net-veined wings, you are a neuropteroid. Need I key you further?

Your Ento-Savvy has saved you this time. Not like the last fool who thought me a common orthopteroid! Now, be gone and consider this your only warning from Mantispid!

